The Augustine hotel in Prague obtains yet another award

8 October 2009: The developer Waldeck Capital LLC is delighted to announce that The Augustine hotel has been awarded 2nd place at the Hotel Property Award awarded each year during hotelforum, the European hotel development conference for hotel and real estate professionals. The award ceremony took place during the gala evening of the hotelforum conference at the Hotel Bayerischer Hof in Munich on 7 October 2009.

This award is targeted to a hotel property distinguishing itself from its competitors in terms of a harmonious concept of architecture, design and innovation. It is crucial that the above mentioned elements are combined in a way that creates a successful hotel concept.

The developers see this award as an acknowledgment of their tremendous efforts in creating The Augustine out of seven buildings, which all date to different eras, have completely distinct structures and are built from a diverse range of materials on various levels, into one seamless property, while remaining true to the buildings and their heritage.

Editors' Notes

The Augustine is a premium luxury hotel operated situated in the historical lesser town of Prague (known as Malá Strana), within a stone's throw of the Charles Bridge, just below Prague Castle and next door to the famous Wallenstein Gardens. This spectacular 101-room hotel has been created from a complex of seven historic buildings, including a former brewery and the 13th century Augustinian St Thomas Monastery, after which the hotel is named.
